TASTING NOTES:

Not widely known, but in days of yore, growers in Burgundy often confused Pinot Blanc with Chardonnay, which it resembles, propagating it and blending it for a classic white Burgundy. In 2013, we decided to give this a whirl, blending a small portion of Pinot Blanc to our Chardonnay. It added such a wonderful dimension to the wine, we decided to carry on with the practice.

Our 2015 Chardonnay has intriguing aromatics of golden apples, citrus blossoms, melon, Bartlett pears, clay and white flowers. It is well balanced, clean and crisp on the palate with bright flavors of stone fruit, citrus, crème brûlée, and quince. This wine is layered with complex flavors that are lifted by vibrant acidity leading to a long, refreshing finish with just a hint of French oak.

VINEYARD:

The Pinot Blanc fruit comes from the famed York Creek Vineyard, high atop the Mayacamas range on Spring Mountain. The Chardonnay is sourced from two vineyards in Sonoma County – Hi-Vista in Carneros and Smith in Dry Creek Valley. Both vineyards are located in unusually cooler pockets of Sonoma and their unique microclimates make them very well suited to produce the type of Chardonnay we love – opulent yet elegant, somewhat steely, with bright fresh fruit and crisp acidity.
